INTRODUCTION

The following material is provided for the information of students at Young High School and their parents/carers regarding Year 11 assessment tasks, school requirements and NSW Educational Standards Authority (NESA) requirements for satisfactory course completion. Students and parents/carers should be aware that student achievement in assessment tasks during the year directly contributes to final Year 11 assessment marks submitted to NESA for every student.

What are assessment tasks?

Assessment tasks are designed to measure your performance in meeting the objectives of each course. The assessment tasks may include tests, written or oral assignments, practical activities, fieldwork, projects, and school examinations. The type of assessment tasks used will vary from course to course, and will be those considered most appropriate for measuring student achievement of the syllabus objectives. At this school, students will be required to complete a number of assessment tasks in each Year 11 course. Schools are required to assess each student's actual performance, not their potential performance. Thus, assessment marks cannot be modified to take into account possible effects of illness or absences for other reasons.

How does the NESA use the assessment marks?

The school uses the assessment marks to provide a grade to NESA for all courses of study undertaken by Year 11 students except for Vocational Courses. The assessment grades is shown on the student's Record of School Achievement (ROSA).

Are the assessment tasks the same in all schools?

No. For each Board Developed Course, NESA has issued guidelines for the assessment process in that course and each school develops an assessment program in accordance with these guidelines. For those Board Endorsed Courses for which it has distributed the syllabus, NESA has issued guidelines for the assessment processes to be used. For those courses written in schools and endorsed by NESA, they have approved the methods to be used to assess student performance.

How will I know what tasks I need to complete?

The assessment program for each Yr 11 course is outlined in this booklet. This program indicates when the tasks are scheduled, the percentage each task contributes to the overall assessment, and the type of task involved. Precise details about each task will be provided to you, by the class teacher, as the time for each task approaches. If you are absent when these details are given to the class as a whole, then it is your responsibility to obtain this information from the teacher.

Is it possible to gain zero for an assessment task?

It is possible for a student to score zero for an assessment task. Some of the situations are listed here:

- the standard of work submitted is such that no marks are awarded;
- the task is of an ongoing nature and is not completed and submitted by the scheduled date;
- you are absent when an assessment task is done and have no legitimate reason for being absent;
- you are guilty of some form of malpractice in relation to the completion of the task.

When and to whom do I hand in my assessment tasks?

In cases where the assessment task requires you to hand in material, the material must be handed to the class teacher during class or if no class is scheduled on the day it is to be handed in by 3:10 pm to the class teacher or the appropriate Head Teacher and a receipt will be issued. It is not sufficient to ask that the material be placed on the class teacher's desk. It is the student's responsibility to obtain and retain the receipt.

What happens if I am absent from school when an assessment task is scheduled?

If you are absent from school on the day an assessment task is done, or is due to be handed in, the following procedures apply. Notes, indicating reasons for absence, should be signed by your parent or carer.

- If you know in advance that you will be absent from school on the day that an assessment task is to be done, or is due to be handed in, then a note should be brought to the class teacher indicating the reason for the absence. The task must then be submitted before the due date. This should be done as early as possible so that appropriate alternative arrangements can be made for in class assessment tasks.
- If you are absent from school on the day an assessment task is to be done or is due to be handed in you will be awarded zero. If you have a valid reason for missing this scheduled date then an Assessment Task Special Consideration Form must be completed, indicating the reason for not completing the task at the set time. This should be submitted to the class teacher on the first day you return to school together with a medical certificate or a statutory declaration. (This is in addition to the note brought for attendance purposes.)
- Should our records show that you are consistently absent from school on the day on which an assessment task is to be done, or is due to be handed in, or on days preceding the day on which an assessment task is to be done, or is due to be handed in, even where notes for the absences are supplied, you and your parents will be advised in writing that further occurrences without a medical certificate may be treated as deliberate malpractice, and lead to a zero mark.
- If you feel that you have been unfairly treated, there is a process to enable you to appeal against the decision. To do this you must complete the Student Appeal Form and submit along with your reasons for appealing in writing to the Deputy Principal.

What happens if I want extra time to complete an assessment task?

Students are generally NOT granted extra time to complete an assessment task. However, if you feel as though you have a valid reason for requesting this extension you need to complete an Assessment Task Special Considerations form detailing your reasons for the request.

This request is to be made at least two days before the due date. If an extension has been requested and granted, any late submission of assessment tasks after the extension date will receive zero marks.

What happens if I do not submit an assessment task on the due date, and I am at school that day?

Where an assessment task is submitted after the due date the task will receive a zero mark. However, it is still required to be submitted so that you can demonstrate that you have met all course outcomes.

Your teacher will produce an 'N' award warning letter the day the task is due and not submitted. The only way this can be lifted is by submitting the task after the date due.

What happens if I believe my work has not been fairly marked?

If for any reason you disagree with the marks awarded for a particular assessment task, then you should discuss this with your teacher at the time the mark is made known to you. Should this discussion fail to resolve the matter then you should complete a Student Appeal Form and consult with the Head Teacher concerned. When required, the Principal (or delegate) will become involved and make a determination either individually or via an Assessment Panel convened by the Principal and consisting of the Principal, the Deputy Principal, and a Head Teacher from outside of the faculty involved. The ruling of this panel will be final.

Can times for assessment tasks be changed?

The schedule of assessment tasks included in this booklet attempts to spread the tasks over the available time. Under exceptional circumstances and through consultation with the Principal, a teacher may alter this schedule. Students cannot appeal or request the schedule to be changed.

Do all tasks given in the course count towards the final assessment?

Some tasks which are given may not count towards the actual assessment. However parents may be informed of your failure to complete tasks whether they form part of the assessment program or not. Often these "non- assessable" tasks are used by teachers to allow you to develop the skills required to better complete your assessment tasks.

What are the consequences of being given an 'N' determination in a course?

If you are given an 'N' determination in a course then that course will not count as part of your Year 11 study. If you choose to undertake the minimum 10 units of study after the Year 12 Half Yearly examinations just one "N" determination will reduce your number of units to less than the required minimum (10 units) to allow you to qualify for the award of the Higher School Certificate. This is one reason we recommend you carry 12 units of study for the HSC at Young High School.

What are the NESA rules for satisfactorily completing a course?

For you to be considered to have satisfactorily completed a course there must be sufficient evidence that you have:

- Followed the course developed or endorsed by NESA
- Applied yourself with diligence and sustained effort to the set tasks and experiences provided in the course by the school
- Regular attendance throughout the year. This is critical to enable you to achieve the course outcomes and to do well in the HSC.

Your performance in class, and in both assessable and "non-assessable" tasks, will be used to determine whether or not you have satisfactorily completed a particular course. Students must make a genuine attempt at assessment tasks that contribute in excess of 50% of available marks. Completion of tasks worth exactly 50% is not sufficient for a student to be declared satisfactory; tasks worth in excess of 50% must be completed. In the case of competency-based courses, it is a matter for the Principal to determine whether attempts made by the students to complete the course are genuine.

Where students are studying a course that includes a requisite examination, students must sit for and make a genuine attempt at such examinations. Whilst NESA does not determine minimum attendance requirements, Principals may determine that, as a result of absence, the course completion criteria, as detailed under Section A, have not been met. All such warnings must relate the absences to specific unsatisfactory completion of course requirements.

Where there is a requirement for a mandatory work place learning component of a course all conditions including the number of mandatory hours and all documentation required must be submitted.

Is it possible to appeal if I am considered not to have met the course requirements?

If you are deemed to have not satisfactorily completed a course then you may appeal against this decision. This appeal has to be made to the Principal and must state the reasons for making the appeal. The Principal will then determine a course of action to consider the appeal.

The outcome may be that:

- There is sufficient evidence that you have satisfied the requirements of the course; or
- There is insufficient evidence that you have satisfied the requirements of the course.

If after the school appeal you are still considered to have not met the course requirements then you may appeal to NESA. In such cases the school sends to NESA your written appeal plus all school documents related to both written and verbal warnings you have received.

Are the Vocational Courses assessed differently?

For all vocational courses there are competencies which students are expected to achieve. The assessment for these courses is based primarily on whether or not you have achieved some or all of the competencies for that particular course.

Is workplace learning compulsory?

Where there is a requirement for a mandatory workplace learning component of a course all conditions including the number of mandatory hours and all documentation required must be submitted.

Attendance to all classes contributes to a demonstration that you are Work Ready. Failure to attend class may be used to determine that you are not Work Ready and therefore ineligible to attend work placement. This may prevent you completing your work placement and as a result receiving an 'N' determination in your subject.

Life Skills Assessment

Students undertaking Life Skills courses are assessed on an ongoing basis. While they do not attempt explicit assessment tasks they are required to meet the NESA requirements for course completion as previously outlined.

WHAT IS MALPRACTICE?

All students have completed the 'All My Own Work' Program and have registered to indicate their understanding and acceptance of its contents. It is not acceptable to cheat in an Assessment Task and it is not acceptable to know that cheating occurs and do nothing about it.

Malpractice is any activity undertaken by a student that allows them to gain an unfair advantage over others. Engaging in malpractice will result in a zero mark and disciplinary action may occur.

Malpractice includes, but is not limited to:

- taking time off school prior to a task's due date.
- copying someone else's work in part or in whole and presenting it as their own source (that is, plagiarism, see note below).
- using material (printed or otherwise) without reference to the source also plagiarism.
- building on the ideas of another person without acknowledgement of the source including computer generated responses which include AI software.
- buying, stealing or borrowing any portion of another's work and presenting it as their own.
- submitting work to which another person e.g. parent, coach or subject expert has contributed substantially.
- using words, ideas, designs or the workmanship of others in practical and performance tasks without appropriate acknowledgement.
- paying someone to write or prepare material.
- breaching school examination rules (that is, cheating in exams).
- using non-approved aides during assessment tasks.
- contriving false explanations to explain work not handed in by the due date.
- assisting another student to engage in malpractice, for example lending your work to another.
- having any notation written on the body, clothing or any object brought into an assessment room, communicating with any person other than a supervisor during a task, e.g. speaking, signing, electronic device or other means such as passing notes, making gestures or sharing equipment with another student.

Cheating during examination type tasks will usually result in the cancellation of the paper in whole or part and a zero-mark awarded for the paper or part. Proven dishonesty in relation to other assessment tasks will result in a zero mark.

Teachers will bring cases of suspected malpractice to the attention of their faculty Head Teacher. Evidence will be collected and collated and presented to the Assessment Review Committee. This committee will comprise the faculty Head Teacher, one other Head Teacher and the Deputy Principal. The committee will determine the extent of the malpractice and make subsequent recommendations of penalties to the Principal.

Proven cases of malpractice will be included on a register collated by the NSW Educational Standards Authority. Malpractice in assessment tasks may incur an N Determination letter being issued.

Note : Plagiarism is a form of proven dishonesty. Plagiarism from the Internet, other educational computer programs including computer generated responses which include AI software or any other information source is not acceptable. When using such sources always reference them in the Bibliography and acknowledge direct quotes using appropriate referencing procedures. Plagiarism will result in zero marks for part or whole of the Assessment task.

Competency-Based Assessment

Students in the above listed courses work to achieve the competencies and develop the skills and knowledge described by each unit of competency listed in each syllabus. A syllabus is available from the course teacher, or on the NESAs website.

To be assessed as competent, a student must demonstrate to a qualified assessor/teacher that they can effectively carry out tasks to industry standard. Students will be progressively assessed as 'competent' or 'not yet competent' in individual units of competency. When a student achieves a unit of competency it is signed off by the course assessor/teacher.

Competency based tasks are ongoing throughout the course. Students need to complete these set tasks by the due date as determined by the course teacher.

Completing competencies to industry standard in these tasks go towards achieving a 'Statement Of Attainment' and/or Certificate I/II/III in the relevant course.

Mandatory Work Placement

Students must complete a minimum of 70 hours work placement. Students who do not meet these requirements will be 'N' determined as required by NESAs.

Attendance to all classes contributes to a demonstration that you are Work Ready. Failure to attend class may be used to determine that you are not Work Ready and therefore ineligible to attend work placement. This may prevent you completing your work placement and as a result receiving an 'N' award in your subject.

Internal Assessment

Examinations for VET subjects will take place during the normal yearly examination periods and will be reported on in those periods. The exam will form 100% of the mark for that examination period.

No assessment mark or rank will be given in the school reports, as VET subjects are competency-based courses.

External Assessment (optional HSC examination)

The Higher School Certificate examination for all VET subjects (240 indicative hours) will involve a written examination consisting of multiple-choice questions, short answers and extended response questions.

The questions will be based on units of competency and HSC requirements and advice detailed in the syllabus.

The examination is independent of the competency-based assessment undertaken during the course and has no impact on the eligibility of a student to receive a VET qualification or HSC units and may be used in the calculation of the ATAR.

Appeals

Students may lodge an appeal about assessment decisions through their VET teacher.
